Madison school opening depends on contract talks

The Madison public schools are scheduled to be the first schools to open in the Quad-City area later this week, but whether or not the schools will open on schedule will depend upon negotiations now underway between the teachers and the school district.

"We have schools ready to start with a teachers' institute on the (August) 21st and the first half day of classes Aug. 22 (Friday) and that's the way we are prepared," Superintendent of Schools John Palchek told the Press-Record Friday.

However, Palchek admits there still are differences between the school board and the teachers, primarily in the area of salaries.

Virginia Gullledge, chairman of the negotiating committee for the American Federation of Teachers Local 763, views the situation in much stronger language.

"We are a long way apart on salaries," she summarized, adding, "The main thing is salaries."

Negotiations were to resume this morning after more than a month of silence. The negotiating committee has called a meeting for 2 p.m. today in the Madison Middle School to inform teachers of the progress of the morning negotiations and to seek guidelines for the rest of this week's negotiations, the committee chairman explained.

Asked about the more than a month since the last negotiations, Palchek said he felt that was the choice of the teachers. "As I understand it, they wanted to wait until some of their people got back from summer vacations," he said.

Mrs. Gullledge said she feels the lengthy delay, which is causing the "last minute" negotiations is the result of "a lack of interest" by the board members in the teachers.

"We are concerned that the board has made no attempt to meet with the teachers. We would like them to hear what the teachers have to say."

"We have invited the board members to attend all or any of the negotiating sessions, but they have preferred to have Mr. Palchek negotiate for them. I believe our agreement calls for a board member to be present in negotiations," Mrs. Gullledge said.

"The teachers interpret this as a lack of interest as to what the teachers are saying," she concluded.

She said a press release will be issued after Monday afternoon's membership meeting on the status of the negotiations and plans by the teachers for the remainder of the week.

Neither Palchek nor Mrs. Gullledge would comment on the outlook for schools opening to students Friday.

"We would rather wait until after Monday's meetings," they agreed.

City home loan plan 'in limbo'

A Granite City proposal to sell $30 million in bonds to finance home mortgage loans at low interest rates is "in limbo" for the present because of the condition of the bond market, the Press-Record learned today.

The home mortgage loan plan, the second such program to be set up by the city, will have to wait either for more favorable bond sale conditions or more substantial reductions in interest rates, an official said.

Dave Nolan, administrative aide to Mayor Paul Schuler, said Friday he has been informed by representatives of Clayton Brown & Associates of Chicago which has been retained as the city's underwriter in the project, that it would be impossible to sell the bonds at this time at an interest rate that would make the loan program feasible.

"The market is such now that loan interest would have to run about 11.5 percent, even if there was a market for the bonds," Nolan said, adding, "Conventional loans are available at that rate."

While the city council has enacted an ordinance setting a limit of $30 million on the sale of bonds, it is possible to reduce the amount if a smaller bond package is found to be more marketable, Nolan said.

In the city's first mortgage-loan program, the city sold $10 million in bonds to enable the city to make mortgage loans at 8.75 percent against a bond rate of 7.75 percent.

Nolan said, however, that "There will be no more 8.75 percent money. Under present conditions any bond sale would require more than an 11 percent interest rate on loans, a factor that would not make the program feasible."

"The Clayton Brown firm told us it is continuing to check for potential buyers on a basis that would justify a sale of the bonds, and will notify us if they can

PREPARING FOR POND. Granite City's City Engineer Monroe Brewer, center, and Jeff Reiter, engineering technician for Brewer's department, survey a field west of the Feralloy Metals Co. plant on Nameoki Drive for construction of an 11.9 acre holding pond. The pond, when dug, will hold several million gallons of water after rainstorms, thus alleviating flooding in the North Granite Area. When the city's storm sewers are not in use, the water will be pumped into the sewers and will go to the Mississippi River. This view is looking southwest with Feralloy behind Reiter's back.

Drainage work at N. Granite to start soon

By GARY SCHNEIDER

"It's great to build new curbs and gutters and keep the water moving down streets, but one thing that has to be remembered is that it has to have somewhere to go," City Engineer Monroe Brewer explained Thursday afternoon as he announced that the North Granite drainage program soon will be a reality.

Brewer announced that the city purchased 11.9 acres of land behind the Feralloy Metals Co. plant at 26th Street and Nameoki Drive for a holding pond. The land was purchased from Ralph A. Morris II at a total cost of $83,380, or $7,000 per acre.

The sale was finalized Wednesday by Mayor Paul Schuler, Brewer said.

The drainage pond will serve the North Granite area and will be particularly needed after a $220,000 street and curb improvement program is completed in that area, after June, 1981, Brewer explained.

The city's drainage program is being done at no direct cost to the local taxpayer, since Community Development grant funds are being used. A total of $550,000 has been set aside for drainage in North Granite and for the Briarcliff area.

2ND POND SIGHTED The Briarcliff program, however, appears "stalled" at this time, since

Smith plant closing set

The A.O. Smith Corp. automotive frame plant is to close permanently sometime between Sept. 15 and Oct. 1, it was announced this morning.

Rick James, assistant to Jack M. Birchhill, director of merchandising and public relations, told the Press-Record from the corporation's headquarters in Milwaukee this morning.

"It is planned, at this point, to phase out all production at the Granite City plant sometime between Sept. 15 and Oct. 1," James said.

The announcement of closing dates followed a marathon 17-hour negotiating session between company officials and the negotiating committee for the striking United Auto Workers Local 1715 at the offices of the U.S. Conciliation and Mediation Service in St. Louis which began Thursday and continued into Friday.

No agreement was reached, James said, but meetings are tentatively scheduled to resume tomorrow.

Although the need for a new contract with the Auto Workers is somewhat of a "route point," with the plant closing, according to James, reaching agreement on a new contract will simplify the process of determining proper termination benefits, pensions and other matters related to the plant's closing.

The Auto Workers have been on strike against the local plant since April 8 over disagreements on wages, physical examinations after illnesses and other matters, according to union spokesmen.

At the time of the strike, about 650 persons were on layoff and about 750

Bond issue to benefit all schools

By BILL WINTER

The special election to be held in Granite City School District Nine this fall calls for 112 remodeling and improvement projects at 19 buildings.

There is expected to be a single ballot question on the renovation work, which consists of 79 projects at elementary schools, 20 at high schools, 12 at junior high schools and one at the Board of Education office complex.

Also on the ballot will be a question on whether to alter the present tax rate ceiling for the Operations, Building and Maintenance Fund.

No school in the system has been left out of the list of proposed improvements, but the total has been trimmed wherever possible. All items to be included have been urged by both the school staffs and members of the Citizens Advisory Council.

A breakdown of the 112 projects costing $2,900,000 shows 12 roofing installations aggregating $650,000, two remodeling programs totaling $650,000 and four heating and cooling projects costing $350,000.

Other project totals and cost estimates are: restroom and locker room improvements, eight, $195,000; ceiling and lighting projects, 17, costing $120,000; bleacher installation, one, $100,000;

Tuckpointing, eight, $90,000; playground and driveway projects, five, $80,000; window projects, five, $80,000; school floors, 12, costing $75,000;

Burglar alarms, 12 schools, $55,000; fire suppression systems, 14, costing $47,000; exterior wall projects, three, $40,000; electrical work, nine schools, $30,000; and contingencies and fees, $350,000.

The work and purchases totaling $2,900,000 to be financed from bond issue proceeds do not include another $857,953 already completed or under contract ($438,528 heating units, $290,838 roofing, $60,698 heating line, $54,669 playground and drive work, and $13,240 automotive shop installation).

The latter remodeling costs were financed with proceeds from sale of McKinley School and interest earned on Bond and Interest Fund investments.

By performing this work without bond borrowing, the school district saved $60,056 (assuming seven percent interest).

School officials acknowledge that anything involving taxes is not highly popular in this day and age, but assert there is an overpowering need for the renovations listed for inclusion on this fall's ballot. A precise election date has not yet been set.

Major items include reconstruction of the Mitchell School kitchen and Granite City High School South science rooms,

EDWARD F. REISKE

Edward Reiske interim director of United Way

Edward F. Reiske, who retired in 1979 as executive vice president of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, has been named interim executive director of the Tri-Cities Area United Way.

His appointment was approved by the UW board of directors at its third quarterly meeting of the year.

Reiske will serve in the interim position until a permanent replacement is named for the former UW executive director, who resigned this summer.

Continuing the search for a permanent United Way executive will be a committee headed by Paul Costello and including Albert H. Froemling, UW president, James Eisenbeis, general campaign chairman for the fall 1980 drive, and Melvin Wilmmsmeyer, Robert P. Meam, the Rev. Henry Crippen and William Donovan.

Reiske was St. Louis branch office manager for the J. I. Case Co., manufacturers of farm and industrial equipment, before becoming the local Chamber manager in May 1973. He is a past president of the St. Louis Equipment Association.

During Reiske's association with the Chamber of Commerce, its membership and activities showed extensive growth.

A resident of Granite City for the past 34 years, Reiske is active in local organizations. He and his wife, Loretta, are members of the First United Presbyterian Church.

Pres. Froemling said today the Tri-Cities Area United Way has retained the River Bend United Way, Alton, to furnish services, "primarily related to training of drive solicitors, leadership in campaign strategies, and whatever additional professional leadership they can add to our 1980 campaign, which will get under way about mid-September. This is primarily an interim arrangement."

Ethnic foods, a tug-of-war, a volleyball tournament, a horseshoe pitching contest, pony rides, music each day and evening and other offerings are on the schedule to please persons of many tastes, organizers said.

The Ethnic Festival will officially open at 4 p.m. Friday and will feature the Dave Hyla Orchestra from 7 p.m. to midnight.

Saturday the smell of shish ke-babs, pork steaks and pigs in a blanket cooking will fill the air of the festival grounds and a full schedule of activities, including indoor games from 7 to 10 p.m., will be offered. Italian sausage, fish, hot dogs, barbecued pork steaks, sloppy joe and other foods will be featured all three days.

SIXTH IN NATION Harry Thiel, Edwardsville, ranked sixth nationally among all Lutheran Brotherhood district representatives during July. The achievement was based on the amount of life and health insurance protection and mutual funds investments he provided for Lutherans in this area. About 1,000 representatives are associated with the Minneapolis-based fraternal insurance society nationally.

DAV donates to Hospice

Quad-City Chapter 53 of the Disabled American Veterans has made a contribution of $1,000 to the Hospice of Madison County. The DAV Chapter was represented at the presentation by Lawrence Lockhart, commander; Joseph Heffler, adjutant; Lawrence McGuire and Andrew Gitchoff, committee members. The gift was presented to Nina Millett, program coordinator, and Rosemarie Lindner, director of public relations and volunteers of the Madison County Hospice program. Hospice of Madison County soon will have served the community for ten months in a home care program which emphasizes physical, emotional and spiritual comfort for persons with advanced cancer, and for their family members. Emphasis is on care of physical symptoms and other problems associated with this phase of the illness, rather than on care of the disease. Priority is given to the control of symptoms for the patient, and on supportive care for both patient and family members.

The program also includes bereavement follow-up which assists the bereaved survivors of each patient to progress through the grieving process which includes resolving their grief and adjusting to a new life style. This not-for-profit program is supported through private and organizational donations from the entire county.

Time for review of earnings

With the year more than half over, now may be a good time for people who receive Social Security checks and who are working to review their earnings. SS-8 officials said.

It may be that a person has earned more or less than he or she expected, and this could affect Social Security checks.

The general rule is that a person can receive all checks for the year if earnings do not exceed the annual exempt amount. In 1980, this amount is $5,000 for people 65 or older and $3,700 for people under 65.

If earnings exceed the annual exempt amount, then $1 in benefits is withheld for each $2 earnings above the limit.

The earnings test applies to all people under age 71 getting checks, except those receiving checks because they are disabled.

"It is important to remember that gross pay counts for purposes of the earnings test, not just take-home pay," a spokesman said.

"A person who finds he or she is earning significantly more or less than expected should call the Social Security office so that any needed adjustment can be made."

Area offices are located at 650 Missouri Ave., East St. Louis 62201 and 216 W. Main St., Belleville, 62221. The phone number is 274-4100, or Quad-Cities may call toll free by dialing the operator and asking for Enterprise 1-555.

Benefits for some amputees increased

This is the final week for veterans to apply for increased benefits they may be eligible for if they have multiple amputations.

The increased benefits payments stem from a change in regulations made last year. They were a result of a study indicating some veterans with severe, multiple amputations may run a higher risk of developing heart disease.

Veterans who apply for the higher benefits before Aug. 22, 1980, can get the increased compensation rate retroactive to Aug. 22, 1979, if they are eligible.

The study analyzed the relationship between war-related amputations and subsequent deaths from cardiovascular disease. It was ordered by Congress and conducted for the Veterans Administration by the National Academy of Sciences.

Findings indicate more than one-third greater risk death from all causes for veterans with amputation of both legs, or of one leg amputated at or above the knee, compared with veterans who were wounded but had no amputation.

The risk of death from disability of the cardiovascular system was more than 50 percent greater for these amputees. But the amputation of arms, hands or feet did not detectably increase the risk of death.

The study resulted in new VA regulations granting service connection for ischemic heart disease or other cardiovascular disease in developing in veterans with amputations of one leg at or above the knee or both legs at or above the ankles.

Eligible veterans can secure full information at the VA regional office at 536 S. Clark, Chicago, or call toll free 1-800-541-1111 in Illinois. The VA number here is 274-5444.

2 new energy officials named by Ill. Power

The Illinois Power Company board of directors last week elected John M. "Jack" Williams a vice president of the company, responsible for energy supply, power production and purchasing functions of the electric and natural gas utility.

Williams has been manager of load research for Illinois Power since May 1979. He began with the company in 1966 as an assistant electrical engineer. He was named chief system planning engineer in 1970 and manager of energy supply in 1973.

A graduate of Urbana High School, Williams earned a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering from the University of Illinois in 1964.

The Decatur resident is a past chairman of the future systems study group of Mid-America Interpool Network, and the Interconnection Arrangement Committee of the Edison Electric Institute.

Illinois Power last week also promoted W. Dean Cunningham to manager of energy programs.

He has been director of industrial marketing for the company since 1977. In the newly-created position, he will retain his current duties and also be responsible for residential and commercial energy, electric cooperative and farm power programs.

Cunningham joined the company in 1961 as a commercial sales engineer. He was an industrial development engineer and assistant to the company's Decatur service area manager before being named director of industrial development in 1971. Two years later, he was named director of economic development.

A native of Newton, Ill., Cunningham graduated from the University of Illinois in 1957 with a degree in geology. Before joining Illinois Power, he worked for the Minerva Oil company's oil division in Eldorado, Ill.

Illinois Power last week announced the 134th consecutive quarterly dividend on its common stock. The board declared a dividend of 50 cents per share.

The directors also declared regular quarterly dividends.

The dividends are all payable Nov. 1 to stockholders of record on Oct. 10.

Vadallabene to aid coal development

State Senator Sam M. Vadallabene of this district has been named to the Coal Development Committee of the Illinois Energy Resources Commission by the commission's chairman, Sen. Kenneth V. Buzbee.

Buzbee said, "Problems which confront the use of coal in Illinois will be our major concern. The committee will research and investigate coal issues and make practical recommendations to enable our commission to promote the use of Illinois coal."

Sen. Vadallabene is accepting the appointment said, "These matters are of Paramount interest to the region I represent. For too long, a major source of energy has been ignored and underdeveloped."

"The time for action is urgently pressing upon us. In developing every possible strategy for the fullest use of Southern Illinois coal, we can both reduce our country's dependence on foreign sources of energy and produce jobs in an economy which needs a powerful shot in the arm."

"The coal is here, just waiting to be used. Technology to use it economically and safely lies within our grasp."

Driver faces charges after crash hurts 3

Three persons were injured when the auto of Martin E. Glaspie Jr., 20, of 1305 Kirkpatrick Homes, collided at Lee Avenue and 21st Street with the side of a westbound pickup truck owned by Granite City Steel.

Glaspie was charged with violating a stop sign, failure to have a driver's license and illegal transportation of alcohol after police alleged finding open beer in his auto.

Witnesses told police that the westbound pickup truck was in the intersection when Glaspie's auto collided with the right rear of the truck.

The truck was knocked south across the roadway and into the yard of Jessie Hollis, 2047 Lee Ave., damaging two trees, police reported.

A fire extinguisher in the bed of the truck was knocked into the air and flew into the yard of Sarah Bringer, 2045 Lee Ave., striking Mrs. Bringer's car and damaging it, witnesses said.

Glaspie auto, which allegedly left about 75 feet of skid marks, ended up on 21st Street, according to official reports.

The driver of the truck, Edward Woldanski, 47, Belleville, suffered visible injuries and was taken by Granite City Steel security officers to the Nicholas Veeber Health Center, which is operated by the steel company. Reports on his condition were unavailable.

UNDERGOES SURGERY

James Woods Jr., 935 Reynolds St., Madison, underwent surgery for an injury to his left eye as a result of a fight allegedly taking place in the 900 block of Neddinghaus Ave., early Saturday morning.

Postpone meeting on zoning codes

The second meeting of the Granite City Plan Commission on a proposed zoning ordinance for Granite City, which was to have been held last Thursday, was postponed to this Thursday, Aug. 21, when several of the commission members went on vacation.

The meeting now will be held at 1:15 p.m. Thursday in the city council chambers on the top floor of city hall.

The zoning ordinance, prepared by the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission (SIMARPC), was studied for the first time by the Plan Commission July 10, and the commission members recommended that more commercial zoning categories be added to it.

The members agreed unanimously that only groups of businesses which complement each other should be lumped into the same zoning categories, so zoning granted for a neighborhood confectionery could not later be used for a service station or auto body shop at the same location.

Tom Wobbe, senior planner with SIMARPC, agreed to modify the document before the Plan Commission's next meeting, which is this week.

If an acceptable zoning ordinance is approved by the Plan Commission, it will be submitted to the Granite City Council for passage, replacing the present zoning ordinance.

David Morgan, chairman of the Plan Commission, said the old ordinance has caused as many controversies as it has avoided. The Plan Commission was asked to grant special use permits for businesses prohibited in certain areas and their votes, in some cases, angered some city residents.

"The 'flip a coin' nature of special use permits led to a series of lawsuits and rulings on several zoning issues, enabling some businesses to open in residential areas, despite denial by the city of permits or rezoning, Morgan noted.

Owner stops damage

Michael A. Evans, 18, of 1620 Ferguson Ave., was charged with criminal damage to property after he allegedly tore a screen and pried open a window to a camper on the pickup truck of Myrl Pendleton at 21st Street and Lee Avenue at 2:20 a.m. Friday, apparently unaware that Pendleton was inside the camper.

Pendleton said he was seated at a table inside the camper when he heard a noise and saw a young man cut the screen on the right side window and then force the window open.

The young man returned to a parked car nearby and was talking to a young woman in the car when Pendleton got out of the camper and talked to the man to the table, he related.

Pendleton obtained a license number from the auto and then got in his auto and drove toward the Granite City police station, until he encountered a squad car and informed the officer what had happened, police reported.

While an officer was examining the damage to Pendleton's camper, he was radioed that Evans had just come to the police station and said he was responsible for the damage, it was alleged.

Pendleton signed a complaint against Evans, who was released on $35 bond.

There were no objections at the meeting to any of the requests.

The board stressed that proper guttering must be provided on all structures built to keep runoff water off neighboring lots.

EUN DISCHARGED
An unidentified man summoned a Granite City man to a parking lot in the 1600 block of Madison Avenue under the pretense of wanting to talk with him and then pointed a revolver at the local resident when he stood at the side of the car.

After a scuffle, the gun discharged and the GC man recovered the gun and the other man drove away, it was reported at 1:14 a.m. Saturday. The local resident was not injured but did receive powder burns to the left hand.

Drainage work

Residents surrounding the proposed location for its holding pond have objected strongly to the plans. The city had envisioned a second holding pond in the "hobo jungle" area east of the railroad tracks, near the end of Yale Avenue.

At a public hearing on that controversial pond, numerous residents of the Lueders Park Estates and surrounding area told city officials they did not want a pond located there, due to the dangers of rats, weeds, unsightly conditions, health hazards and other fears.

Since that hearing, Brewer has announced that the Briarcliff program has been "put on the back burner," and the engineering department is studying alternatives to building a pond in hobo jungle.

Meanwhile, the North Granite program is proceeding at "full speed," because there are no known objectors, and the pond could be completed before winter, Brewer said. "If it is not done before winter, however, that really is no problem, because the kind of work we have to do can be done during the winter weather," he added.

MOVING A MOUNTAIN

Bidding will begin soon for a contractor to remove an inverted mountain of dirt, approximately 130,000 cubic yards, from the holding pond behind Feralloy. The walls of the pond will be constructed on a "four-to-one" ratio, meaning that for each four feet in, horizontally, the depth will increase by one foot. Due to the type of soil there, that's the way we have to do it," Brewer explained.

Most of the time, the majority of the pond will be dry, the engineer said. However, after a heavy rain, the pond will fill with millions of gallons of water and that water will be retained until the city's storm sewers are clear. "Then, the water in the pond which could be as deep as 10 feet or more in the middle, will be pumped east under the railroad tracks to the relatively new stormwater sewers and will flow from there into the Mississippi River," Brewer explained.

The entire pond area will be fenced by the city to prevent accidents, he added.

"Then, when we have somewhere for the water to go, we can start the proposed street work in that area. It should be a big improvement," Brewer concluded.

The drainage project has been in the planning stage for more than a year in a program advanced under the urging of Mayor Paul Schuler.

Brewer said the proposed holding pond would have a maximum capacity of 25 million gallons, but to reach that maximum "it would take a real gully washer." Normally, he noted, about 20 percent of the capacity would be needed.

offices and counseling areas.

Heating-cooling work is scheduled for Johnson School and South, and bleachers for South. Also listed for the latter school are roofing for the gymnasium and slate roof area, tuckpointing, electrical work, temperature controls, office air-conditioning, exterior wall work, flooring, ceilings, lights, lockers, locker rooms and burglar alarms.

Granite City High School North projects are the east wing roof, walls, floors, locker rooms, fire suppression and playgrounds and drives.

Fraser Junior High work is to include tuckpointing, flooring and locker rooms.

At Grady Junior High School, the projects involve roofing and fire suppression.

The Coolidge Junior High list mentions hourly employees and 200 salaried employees were working.

News that the plant would close permanently came July 31, when the A.O. Smith Corp. Board of Directors adopted a recommendation that the management of the automotive division to close the facility.

A company spokesman said the closing is the only product demand for the only product tions roofing, tuckpointing, windows, walls, ceilings, lights and locker rooms. Work planned at the school board offices calls for roof installation.

Listings for elementary schools are as follows:

Emerson—roof, windows, electrical, alarms, fire suppression.

Frohhardt—electrical, flooring, lights, alarms, fire suppression.

Johnson—roof, electrical, heating, cooling, carpeting, playgrounds and drives.

Lake—flooring, alarms, fire suppression.

Logan—roof, electrical, floor, ceilings, lights, alarms, fire suppression, playgrounds and drives.

Marsalis—roof, tuckpointing, floor, ceiling, lights, alarms and fire suppression.

Maryville—lights, alarms, fire suppression, playgrounds and drives.

Manufactured by the local plant, automotive frames for full-sized wagons.

GM planned to phase out use of conventional auto frames starting with the 1982 model year, when most auto will utilize "cradles" and other types of frames.

The strike may have speeded up the evaluation which led to the decision to close the plant, but the closing in the near future was imminent, unless orders for a different product, such as truck frames, could be found, according to Birchfield.

Attempts by Smith to find other orders were unsuccessful, due to the competitive nature of the automotive manufacturing business, he indicated.

He emphasized that the city is not abandoning the program, but is being forced to wait better conditions before trying to sell the bonds.

The earlier mortgage program was limited to the purchase of single-family dwellings and duplex units. The new program will open the way to the acquisition of four-family multiple units.

Arrest two in Madison

An attempt to remove a vehicle from a no-parking zone resulted in the arrest of two Madison residents Sunday night.

The incident occurred when efforts to contact the owner of a gold colored Dodge, allegedly parked in a no-parking zone near the Grenzer Homes, failed and Madison police summoned it.

The victim was escorted to a hospital.

At that point, another member of Willis' family, Sheila C. Willis, 29, of 71 Grenzer Homes, allegedly got between the officer and Willis and was told to stop interfering.

The woman allegedly began running from the scene and was chased by a special agent of CN&W Railroad, who caught her across the street.

Willis also started moving away from the officer and was taken into custody.

Sheila Willis was charged with interfering with a police officer and resisting arrest. She was released a short time later on notice to appear for a hearing at 9 a.m. Sept. 2.

Terry Willis was charged with resisting arrest and parking in a no-parking zone. He was released at 10:22 p.m. Sunday on payment of a $87 cash bond and also must appear Sept. 26.

Kelahan heads UW labor committee

James L. Kelahan, District 34 representative of United Steelworkers of America, will be volunteer chairman of the 1980 Tri-Cities Area United Way Labor Participation Committee. It was announced today by United Way Volunteer General Campaign Chairman James L. Eisenbeis.

Eisenbeis said, "This key United Way Committee is our active and vital link to the development of programs designed to increase United Way Fair Share Giving among organized labor union members, and as my predecessor, George Knecht, noted recently, 'organized labor has an enormous interest and commitment to voluntary community service programs.'"

"United Way presents the broadest and most cost-effective opportunity in our community and you can fully count on our (labor) support this year."

"Coupled with the growing list of quality campaign

Sewer committee buys site for new office

Members of the Madison County Special Sewer Committee have finalized the purchase of property east of Route 111 and north of Pontoon Road for placement of a temporary mobile home office for sewer superintendent Gene Futch.

A surplus mobile home already owned by the county is being remodeled and should be in the site within a few weeks, committee chairman Louis Whitsell told the audience at last week's sewer committee meeting.

The property was purchased from Pontoon Beach for $14,500. Until it is placed in use by the sewer superintendent, Futch is working from the S.M. Wilson & Co. mobile office on Bremen Avenue at Nameoki Road.

Television inspection and pressure testing of the new sewer line is to begin this week in the vicinity of the Tri-City Regional Port and continue through Area 1B, which includes the Bloodworth Addition, to behind A.O. Smith Cove. When completion of Area 1B is completed and the area has been improved, tap-ons will be individual homes may begin and the inspection team, including state inspectors, will move on a counter-clockwise around the sewers inspecting each of the 11 districts. As each is approved, homeowners will be encouraged to pay a $25 inspection fee and begin using the new sewers, Whitsell explained.

Basically, the order of inspection and tap-ons will be from the port, through northern Vernice Township to Chouteau Township, into Mitchell, then on to Pontoon Beach and Wilshire Manor.

Whitsell said a new rule by the Environmental Protection Agency will allow immediate use of the sewers, by district, as soon as each district has been inspected and improved. Under the former EPA rules, the sewers could not be used until the entire system had been approved, he noted.

He estimated that residents of the Bloodworth Subdivision and the rest of Area 1B could start tap-ons within two weeks.

GC girl, 15, hurt in crash

David Welker, 60, of State Park Place, was charged with leaving the scene of an injury accident after his auto struck the rear of the car of Frederick Tritschuh of Granite City last week, according to the Madison County Sheriff's Department.

Tritschuh told deputies he was stopped at a traffic signal at Route 157 and State Aid 35 near Collinsville when his car was struck from behind by Welker's vehicle.

Paula Huffman, 15, of Granite City, a passenger in Tritschuh's auto, suffered minor injuries, but declined immediate medical treatment.

Welker, who allegedly told police he became excited after the accident and had just driven away, was released after posting his driver's license as bond.

More women seeking work

The number of women age 16 and over in the U.S. civilian labor force increased 17.3 percent, from 37 million to 43 million, between 1975 and 1979, new figures show.

During the same period, the number of women in this age group rose by only 6.4 percent, according to a special report prepared by the Department of Labor's Women's Bureau for the 1980 World Conference of the UN Decade of Women.

The report, "Employment Goals of the World Plan of Action: Developments and Issues in the United States," outlines the changes that have taken place since the International Women's Year Conference in Mexico City in 1975. It analyzes issues and policy developments that affect women in the U.S. labor force.

One of the main changes has been the increase in labor force participation among women under 35 years of age.

Women 25 to 34, the primary childbearing years, had raised their labor force participation rates to 64 percent by 1979. The number of single women in the labor force also increased 30 percent, from 8.5 million to over 11 million.

The report contains statistical information on working mothers and wives, teen minority women, women who maintain families, rural women, and displaced homemakers, tracing employment trends among these groups.

A section on policy analysis reviews measures and programs to reduce discrimination in employment, including such emerging issues as pay equity, occupational safety and health, and sexual harassment.

It also discusses issues related to employment and training opportunities, pensions and Social Security, child care, unemployment compensation, and an alternative work schedules.

Marijuana arrests

Three out-of-state men were charged in state complaints with possessing marijuana and one of them was charged with possession of a hypodermic syringe after police investigated reports that young men were smoking marijuana in an auto at 53rd and State streets at 8:40 a.m. Sunday.

The driver, Paul S. Park, 21, Del City, Okla., agreed to open the trunk of his auto for police and officers alleged finding three plastic bags containing 70 grams of marijuana in the trunk.

Officers also alleged finding numerous small foil packets containing blue plastic. The three said the packets were sold to them in Oklahoma by a man who said they contained LSD, but it turned out there was only plastic in the packets, police reported.

A hypodermic syringe was found under the seat of Donald C. Watson, 23, Del City, so he was charged with illegal possession of a hypodermic and of possession of the syringe. Also arrested was Mark S. Fechner, 24, Anchorage, Alaska, who was charged with possession of marijuana.

Bond for Watson was set at $204 and bond on Park and Fechner was set at $102 cash. They were lodged.

Police also questioned a man who allegedly was about to sell amphetamines (speed) to the three, but the man was released, pending further investigation.

Rowane family benefit ball

A benefit ball to assist the Joseph Rowane family, who live at 1988 Benton St., will be held on Friday, Aug. 22, at the Croatian Home in Madison.

Mr. Rowane, who has seven school-age children at home, is on complete disability due to an accident sustained while working for a railroad and is unable to work.

On Sunday, July 20, a son, Dennis Jamison, 28, was a drowning victim at Carlyle Lake and the following Sunday, July 27, the mother of Mr. Jamison and wife of Joseph Rowane, Mrs. Kathleen Rowane, 48, died at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Neighbors in the 1900 block of Benton Street are planning the benefit ball, under the direction of Richard Buecker and Mrs. Betty Applegate.

They announced tickets for the dance will cost $5 per couple and music for dancing will be provided by three bands, who are donating their time for the event.

Sandwiches, beer and soda will be offered for sale at the dance at a nominal fee and tickets may be purchased at the door Friday night, Mrs. Applegate said.

Young woman is arrested

Judy A. Snyder, 22, who said she has no permanent address, was charged with criminal damage to property and disorderly conduct after alleged incidents occurring about 10:10 p.m. Thursday at Corner Liquor Store, 2536 Nameoki Road.

The store manager alleged she became angry with him inside the store, exchanged words with him and then spit in his face before walking outside.

Once outside, she allegedly damaged the side mirror on the parked van of Michael Bridges, 17, of Edwardville Road, on the parking lot. Both victims signed complaints against Judy Snyder and she was lodged in jail.

Bottles taken; teens arrested

Three teenagers were charged with theft after they allegedly removed 14 cases of empty soft drink bottles and four loose bottles from the rear of Farm Fresh Dairy, 2920 Nameoki Road, at 1:25 a.m. Friday.

Police said they saw an auto driving away from the rear of the store and stopped it to investigate why it was there. The driver, Joseph A. Bacerra, 18, of 2851 Washington Ave., allegedly admitted they had been stealing bottles from behind the store.

Officers found the empty bottles in the car. It was alleged. Also arrested were Pat L. Hall, 18, of 2561 Edison Ave., and a 14-year-old Granite City boy.

They were charged with theft in complaints signed by a relative of the store's owner.

College credits for high school students

(Belleville Area College)

The first person ever to transfer junior college credits from a public two-year college to a university was Elizabeth Barnes of Joliet. Miss Barnes, who died last year in Joliet, transferred 20 credits to Northern Illinois University in 1902, the fall after she graduated from high school.

The 20 college credits had been earned during her senior year at Joliet Township High School in what was then simply called "post-graduate" study.

Eighty years later, community colleges are returning to the concept of concurrent college and high school enrollment.

The concept has never really died. But after community colleges began to build their own facilities away from the high school campuses, the practice waned substantially.

Belleville Area College administrators, recognizing the increasing costs of a college degree, are returning wholeheartedly to the idea of giving high school students a head start on their college careers.

It has been possible for a high school senior, with the concurrence of the counselor, to enroll for college credit courses at BAC for many years; the practice has not been widely publicized or encouraged, however.

Only 23 high school students — those just completing their junior year — enrolled for classes at BAC during the 1980 summer session.

Now, BAC Director of Counseling Frank Gornick is working not only to acquaint high school students with the possibility of earning college credit while they are still attending high school, but even to establish some basic college courses right in high school facilities, enabling students to take a class or two immediately after completing the day's high school classes.

High school seniors may also enroll for BAC's evening courses.

Dr. Gornick says that such concurrent enrollment may be most appealing to the student who plans to continue for a four-year degree. But it is also possible for a young man or woman to enroll in career programs during the last year or two of high school, if the counselor feels that the college courses can be handled without detriment to the student's high school studies.

Parents or students interested in learning more about concurrent high school and college enrollment may contact Dr. Gornick at 235-2700, extension 318, or talk to the high school counselor assigned to the individual student.

School book loan program growing

At least 1.3 million students in Illinois will benefit this fall from the Illinois State Board of Education's textbook loan program.

The program, which was started in 1976, provides textbooks to public and nonpublic schools at no cost to parents or students.

The textbook program has been phased into Illinois schools gradually. At the beginning, the books were only available at the elementary level, but the program has been extended to include secondary grades.

The $12 million state appropriation for the textbook program this fiscal year will allow for about 60 percent of the one-book-per-student program to be put into effect.

When fully implemented, the program will supply each public and non-public student in the state with access to all necessary texts, not including supplementary materials such as workbooks, dictionaries and atlases.

The Illinois State Board of Education received requests for textbooks from 965 public school districts and 886 non-public schools in the state this year. The overall average cost per textbook is $8.31.

Local district requests for textbooks are sent to regional superintendents, who compile them and send them to the State Board for processing.

The books are delivered to schools in June for the coming fall term. The textbooks remain in the school for the life of the book or until the school can no longer use them.

The State Board of Education maintains an inventory of the texts so that, when a book is no longer usable at one school, it may be redistributed.

Until the textbook program is fully implemented, parents will continue to pay a nominal fee for those books not under the program used by their children.

Mann back from Western Pacific

Navy Sonar Technician 2nd Class Michael C. Mann, whose wife, Sheila, is the daughter of Virgil and Josephine Hampton of Granite City, has returned from a deployment in the Western Pacific.

He is a crewmember aboard the frigate U.S.S. Reasoner, homeported in San Diego. While deployed, his ship operated as a unit of the U.S. 7th Fleet.

During the six-month cruise, his ship steamed more than 25,000 miles conducting anti-submarine support missions with the 7th Fleet.

The ship also operated in the Indian Ocean with the aircraft carrier U.S.S. Constellation to maintain a ready force in support of national objectives. Port visits were made in Hawaii, Guam, the Philippines and Kwajalein Island.

The Reasoner is a 438-foot-long "Knox" class frigate with a crew of 288. Equipped with guns, missiles and rockets, it can operate independently or as part of a naval task force. His ship is also outfitted with a landing platform and normally carries a light helicopter for long-range detection and attack of submarines.

Mann joined the Navy in December 1974.

Social Security data available

(Office of Lt. Gov. Dave O'Neal)

Social Security officials are concerned about the increase in deceptive and misleading advertisements promising special information about the Social Security program.

Many people are paying for information that is either useless to them or that is available free of charge at any Social Security office.

Q. What do you mean by misleading ads?
A. Some ads claim to sell "secret information" that is not available elsewhere.

Sometimes the ads claim an official connection with Social Security, or access to SS records. Beware of these advertisements.

Q. Can a publishing house obtain access to my Social Security records?
A. No private organization has access to an individual's record.

However, you may request information from your own SS record, including an estimate of benefits if you are age 56, by calling the Social Security office. The office will send you a special form that can be used for this purpose.

Q. I know there are books and pamphlets on Social Security written by private publishers that are accurate and up-to-date. How can I tell whether I am buying one of these or a useless book?
A. Call your local Social Security office. The office can usually provide information that can clear up any questions raised by promotional claims.

SUC FILM AT STATE FAIR IN DUQUIN

The show concludes with a restaurant of the university's service mission by SUC's newly-named president, Albert Somit.

The full-color, stereo sound production will run continuously during the fair in SUC's permanent exhibit hall at the fair, geodesic dome on the north "atrium." SUC staffers will be on hand to greet visitors and answer questions.

Cosmetic party funds to aid hospice here

Sandra Cooper, a former registered nurse, now a local Mary Kay Cosmetic skin-care specialist, will be donating 20 percent of each Mary Kay Cosmetic party in the month of September to Hospice of Madison County.

She is working towards her directorship of the nationwide cosmetic line. Sandy and her husband, Jack, are Granite City residents. He is assistant cashier at the First Granite City National Bank.

Area women may learn how to be more beautiful and at the same time help out a much needed program that provided comprehensive care at home to patients in the final stage of advanced cancer, and to their families, Mrs. Cooper said.

The Hospice program also includes a bereavement follow-up for survivors of our patients. Its purpose is to assist the bereaved individual to progress through the grieving process, which includes resolving their grief and adjusting to a new life style.

Persons interested in conducting a party or need more information, may call Sandy Cooper at 977-7913 or Rosemarie Lindner, director of public relations and volunteers for the local Hospice program at 798-3359.

Great fire of 1849 began in a riverboat

By BARBARA LAWRENCE and MARVIN SOLOMAN

On May 17, 1849, between 9 and 10 p.m., a fire broke out on the riverboat "White Cloud." Within 30 minutes the fire, fanned by strong winds, had spread to 23 steamboats and an unknown number of flatboats.

Twenty-two kegs of gunpowder in the hold of one of the boats exploded, helping to speed up the fire's pace.

Northwesterly winds carried burning debris to materials stored on the wharf and to wooden buildings nearby. Two burning boats drifted downstream, causing another fire to break out south of the first one.

Frame buildings and narrow streets aided the rapid spread of the fire, and soon the entire city of St. Louis appeared to be threatened.

For 10 hours, every able-bodied person fought the conflagration. Buildings in the path of the fire were dynamited; it was better to sacrifice a few than to lose all.

Residents laid wet blankets on their roofs and swept off sparks as they landed. Others manned hoses or bucket brigades.

To add to the woes, the water supply failed, and the pumps had to be moved back near the water. That, of course, left buildings on the west edge of the fire, the direction in which it was spreading, unprotected.

Fortunately, the wind shifted, blowing back toward the burned-over area. Even so, 15 blocks were totally or partially burned and an estimated 466 buildings were destroyed.

There was some speculation that the fire was a case of arson, since it was not uncommon for heavily insured riverboats to go up in flames when they neared the end of their usefulness.

However, earlier in the day, some mattresses laid out to air on the dock of the "White Cloud" caught fire apparently set by sparks from a nearby smokestack. The fire was extinguished and mattresses thought worth saving were taken downstairs.

It was believed that one was still smoldering then and flared up later, especially since the "great fire" was reported to have started on that same boat. When Willard Flagg of Madison County returned to school in October of that year, he walked down to the burnt area. He wrote that "as far as the eye can see a heap of fallen houses and tottering walls towering up above the chaos around."

It looked "quite desolate, though many new buildings arising among the ashes of the former city, some of a substantial, and some are inferior to the old ones."

Among the stores destroyed was the Smith's, so he went to see the construction of their new building. The walls were just rising above the ground. The air was filled with the sound of stone masons' hammers, for the buildings going up were of brick or stone instead of flammable wood. He also wrote of cast iron fronts on the new buildings.

At the site of the new store, Flagg walked to the riverfront. Some men were digging dirt and debris out of stone and brick walls in which a safe had been lost.

He saw several kegs of nails which the intense heat had melted into a solid mass, and took some fragments of the molten metal for souvenirs.

So many boats had burned that it was thought best to leave those near the river bank and fill the area with rubble and debris from burned buildings. That also solved the problem of what to do with so much refuse.

In the water was twisted iron from the steamboats, too heavy and cumbersome for easy removal. Stone, brick and burned wood were to be added to it and the whole covered over with dirt and cobble stones.

On the river, the current, wrecks which had drifted from shore and sunk were being removed piecemeal with the aid of diving bells. These bells, he wrote, were shaped like the small end of an egg and were about four feet high. He said they were not "very spacious apartments in which to view the wonders of the deep."

At the waterfront, he met a Mr. Keemle and his mother's uncle, Gaius Wood. Since they were about to depart for the farm, Willard Flagg sent them a specimen of fused metal to his father, Edna.

On the way home, Flagg met a young man named Meyer who had attended school with him the previous year.

Meyer had lost everything but the clothing he was wearing. He told Flagg he had sat up 52 nights with sick persons.

For 1849 was also the year of a malarial cholera epidemic in St. Louis.

McDonald's sweeps to series

By TOM SCHOCKER

Sports

GRANITE CITY (III.) PRESS-RECORD, Monday, August 18, 1980 — 7

GRANITE CITY — As Steve Doty slowly walked off the mound Sunday after striking out the last batter he had a determined look on his face. He had just pitched a full seven innings against the Edwardsville Nationals in the Inter-City League playoffs. He led McDonald's to an 11-5 victory.

Doty's performance, enabling McDonald's to draw that much closer to the championship round, could only be matched by his teammate, Terry Lindsay, in the second game. Lindsay pitched a five-hitter and completed the sweep in the doubleheader at Wilson Park, hurling McDonald's to a 4-1 triumph. The two excellent pitching exhibitions sends McDonald's into the championship series against Corral Liquor next Sunday. The Cowboys hardly dented Maryville in their playoff contests.

As it turned out, Doty's only tough task in the opener was to dispose of the Nationals in the first frame. He did so very neatly, striking out two of the three batters. This was all the McDonald bats needed. With its turn at the plate in the bottom of the inning, McDonald's gave Doty some padding to fall back on. Pat Hogan and Dan Schaus pulled a combo act to put McDonalds on top, with Hogan walking, stealing second and Schaus singling him home. "We've got a lot better hitting," said McDonald's manager Ray Harris, "being that we didn't have any practice this week." Edwardsville thought it had gotten off easy as the next two batters went down on strikes, but Bob Ford cranked up the offense when he delivered an RBI single. John Young followed up with a walk and Bill Dalton promptly placed a triple. Not wanting to leave a runner stranded on third, John Shable sent him home on a double and McDonald's had put the game away at 5-0.

"We got the hits when we needed them," said Harris. With plenty to spare, Jeff Tretter and Ford built on to the lead in the second. Tretter's base hit sent Hogan into score while Ford blasted a double to drive Jeff Parker home.

Appreciative of the generous advantage, Doty returned the favor, limiting the Nationals the four hits through five frames. He did give in though, when Edwardsville touched him for a pair of tallies in the third, but remained strong despite the blistering heat. A four run barrage in the fourth capped off a 12-hit attack which saw nearly everyone in the McDonalds line-up grabbing a hit. Tretter and Parker produced the RBI in that fourth frame.

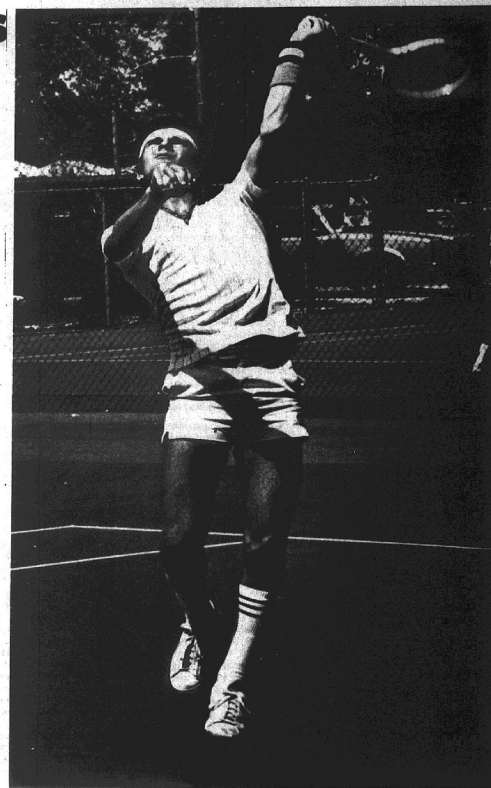

Edwardsville attempted to dent Doty's fine performance as they scored two in the sixth and one in the seventh, but the lead was insurmountable and Doty was sharp.

"We just out pitched them again," said Harris. Lindsay made sure of that in the second contest as he hurled his way out of numerous scoring opportunities for Edwardsville, enroute to an equally smooth accomplishment from the mound.

Even though the McDonald's offense was toned down from the first games, it still came up with the hits when needed. Parker, eyeing the championship round, put his team one run closer, when he tripled in Schaus to open the scoring in the first. Feeling a run was not enough, he drilled a solo home run in the third, giving McDonald's the winning margin. "It went the way I thought it would," said Doty, who must now prove his teams top spot placing.

But for Edwardsville Manager Joe Lucco, the games were completely opposite. "What can you do when you only have nine players show up," said Lucco. "I said earlier, if we had a full team we had a chance to win, but I had to go with one pitcher to throw in two games." This might have helped McDonald's but it was the Nationals fielding which proved to be the difference in the ballgame. A couple of fielding errors led to two McDonald's runs in the fifth, Edwardsville had drawn to a 2-1 count. Costly mistakes and Lindsay was enough to bring the Nationals season to a close.

Cougars tie British selects

Special to the Press-Record

EDWARDSVILLE — The Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Cougars, the defending NCAA Division I National Champions, tied the British Colleges Select Team 1-1 here Friday in an exhibition game in the Nike-Cougar Classic at Cougar Field.

The Cougars, who won the NCAA championship last year in Tampa, Fla., lost five regulars from that team, some to graduation and some to the professional draft. So a 1-1 tie was somewhat pleasing to most members of the team, especially against some of Britain's best.

"It was a good first game," said SIUE head coach Bob Guelker.

"Especially since it doesn't go into the record books."

The Cougars only goal of the game wasn't textbook perfect — but it counted. The Cougars grabbed a 1-0 lead when Steve Schell dribbled the ball in front of the Britons' goal where it was misplayed by two defenders. Then freshman striker Dan O'Keefe pushed the ball over the goal line and into the net. The goal came at the 16:45 mark.

The Britons tied the score late in the first half. Forward Richard Penley knocked in a rebound after Cougar goalie Mark Downar had made the initial stop and then fallen to the ground.

SIUE dominated the second half — but there was no scoring by either club. The Cougars had a nearly complete territorial edge, outshooting the Britons 16-4. Cougar Ed Gettemeier (who replaced Downar in goal in the second half) had to make just one save.

Corral ambushes Red Sox

By RICK WELLE
for the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — As Dennis Coy stepped up to the plate for the last time this season, one Maryville teammate began to holler words of encouragement. "C'mon Dennis, you're our last hope. It's not over till the last out," he said laughingly as he began taking off his equipment, knowing himself it was all but over.

Coy did deliver a single to drive home Maryville's only run in the game of the Inter-City League playoffs Sunday afternoon at Wilson Park. But the sole run was far too little far too late as the Red Sox dropped a double-header to Corral Liquors, 15-3 and 6-1.

THE COWBOYS could do better only two ways — things and best. Maryville, on the other hand, never seemed to get its act together.

The book was written early in the first round of the Inter-City playoffs. The Red Sox won in order in the first game against starter Dan Herstein.

Corral followed with a three-run first. Mike Clark led off with a single and Bob Batey walked. Tom Greco then poked a fly to right, which the right fielder mishandled, allowing the first run to score. Dave Hagenbrock then singled home the other two runs.

A SINGLE RUN in the second inning to give Corral a 4-0 lead was all the Cowboys needed. But they decided to make sure, and plattered starter Steve Murphy and reliever Larry Ellis for a 10-run third inning.

The diamond looked more like a merry-go-round as Corral players rounded the bases almost at will. Nine of the 10 runs were in before the Red Sox could make the first put-out.

The inning was highlighted by a towering home run over a tree deep in left field off the bat of Hagenbrock in his second at-bat of the inning. The three-run blast gave the Cowboys a 14-3 lead.

"We just hit the hell out of the ball," Corral player-manager Ken Crawford said. "Hagenbrock was really hitting." In just three at-bats Hagenbrock singled home two runs, walked and scored and hit his three-run homer.

PITCHING, HOWEVER, was nothing to turn your back to. Herstein, still undefeated in seven outings this season, gave up only six hits. The only damaging blow was a one-out triple by Brad Gregor, which drove in three runs in Maryville's third, at the time cutting the Cowboys' lead to 4-3.

But Herstein had little trouble with the Red Sox after the third, giving up just two singles and a walk in the last four innings. Corral scored a single run in the fourth off Maryville's fifth error of the game.

GAME NO. 2 was the same old story that turns managers' hair grey. "You're sure as hell not going to win any ball games with that many runs," Maryville manager Harold Oberkell and he was five for eight on the day.

"We haven't played good ball since the Fourth of July," he later said. "We quit hitting. Our pitching's been good, but we quit hitting."

THE GAME WAS semi-interesting until the sixth inning, when the Red Sox mounted for Corral and Steve Mishanic for Maryville started.

Mishanic ran into trouble in the third inning when he gave up two runs. Jeff Batey walked. Tom Greco then poked a fly to right, which the right fielder mishandled, allowing the first run to score. Dave Hagenbrock then singled home the other two runs.

Tom Greco singled home Clark, but after a single and a walk to load the bases, John Kerebeck lined to first baseman Gregor, who fired to second-base to end the double play and turn the inning.

CORRAL LAID dormant until the sixth inning when the Cowboys exploded for four runs. The big blast was a two-out triple by Clark that drove in three runs. It was Clark's second triple of the game. Added to that a triple and two singles in the first game, and he was five for eight on the day.

"I guess I just had a good day," Clark said modestly as he packed up his gear to leave. On this last triple, which went well over the center fielder's head, Clark tried to come all the way around to score, but he was easily thrown out at the plate as he came huffing and puffing around third base. "By the time I got to third I ran out of gas," he said.

CRAWFORD TOOK himself out of the game in the sixth inning. Mike Robertson came in to finish the job giving up the single run in the seventh. While he was in Crawford gave up just three hits.

Corral now advances to the championship series next Sunday against McDonald's at Granite City. The Red Sox, which finished tops in the regular season, swept its double-header against Edwardsville.

Tense final tops Park Tennis Tourney

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Joe Vassen was running. Bill Demeyer was volleying. Vassen was working hard for every blast deep to the baseline he was sending over the net. Demeyer, though, would coolly drop another shot to the opposite side of the court.

"What do you think," Bill Ruckick said, "Quite a match, huh?"

The day before, the first day of the Granite City Park District's Invitational Tennis Tournament, Ruckick, the tournament director, had predicted a Vassen-Demeyer final in the men's singles division.

"Come around tomorrow about one, you'll see a great match then," he said Saturday morning.

Come Sunday afternoon, sure enough, Vassen and Demeyer were involved in superb match in the premier event of the tournament.

From the beginning, two distinct styles of play were evident.

Vassen, a 1980 graduate of Belleville West High School headed for the NCAA national championship tennis team at SIUE, tried to use his power to overcome Demeyer.

Demeyer, a member of St. Louis University's tennis team, countered with accuracy and good shot placement.

Weightlifting tournament highlights, sidelights

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record

ROXANA — It might have been interesting to know what lurked in the mind of Greg Mathes, along about noon yesterday.

The way he stalked along close to the walls in the dark corridors of the Roxana High School gym, though, it just didn't seem like the best time to ask.

There's something about the sight of a 200-pound, barrel-chested man in private concentration that doesn't exactly inspire curiosity.

Especially if you've seen what a man like that can do.

IT IS THE second day of the two-day Ozark Power Weightlifting Tournament. The smaller competitors have finished competition the day before, and now it's the big boys' turn.

Greg Mathes is a 220-pound member of the Tri-City YMCA team, his brother Kurt is the director of the tournament, also coach of the Tri-City team as well as a lifter.

Greg is clinching a wide leather belt around his waist, preparing for his turn at the bar, amid the grunts and groans of a fellow competitor straining under some awesome looking iron.

It is the squat event portion of the tournament and the weights are increasing rapidly. 425, 450, 475, and finally, now, 500 pounds.

Greg Mathes is quiet, breathing hard in gasps. His burly brother leans over and whispers something in his ear. It's his turn.

The lifter before him has failed at 500 pounds, his face red with effort, his eyes bulging, he couldn't rise from the squat position once he lowered himself.

Now Mathes tightens the leather straps that bind his wrists to the bar. His breath is deep and short. He secures his grip, loosens his shoulders, then drives down and up with the metal clanging.

He squats slowly, his face flushes. The judge signals to rise. Mathes grunts and his chest and legs expand, but he works the bar up, up, up.

He's done it. He knows it. The bar's back in place, the scoreboard lights flash. A smile replaces the dark concentration on Greg Mathes' face.

Now it's time to ask about what's on Greg Mathes' mind.

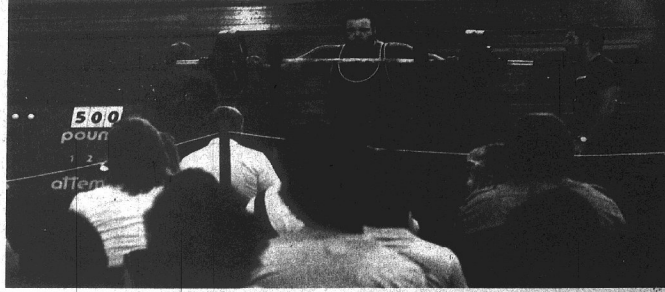

The straps of his thighs are down around his waist. His dark brooding concentration is replaced with a more usual expression.

"Everybody approaches it differently," he says, "But that's just the way I prepare. It's a mental sport you don't want to be distracted."

Oddly, Mathes said this wasn't one of his better days. "I knew coming in about 500 pounds was all I was going to lift. I really didn't train hard for this meet. I'll really go after the meet we've got coming up in about two weeks in Little Rock."

The 500-pound lift in the squat event wasn't Mathes' last. Still to come were the bench press and jerk.

That meant two more periods of hall-passing and dark contemplation.

Seebold wins Meramec boat races

Special to the Press-Record

ST. LOUIS — Bill Seebold had the "home court" advantage Sunday as he took the 1980 Outboard World Series 200 kilometer race in front of 30,000 fans at George W. Winter Park in suburban Penton with a 2 lap lead on the competition.

Winning his qualifying heat earlier in the day, Seebold, who grew up in Granite City, continued his domination of the water in the main event as 25 of the top outboard drivers in the nation competed for more than $16,000 in this prestigious event.

Flying around the 1.1 mile course, Seebold held off an early bid by Buck Morris of Johns Island, S.C., and Daane Lyness, Tulsa, Okla., and took the lead in his 220 horsepower Tunnel Hull camp boat.

With more than 30 boats entered in the Outboard World Series event, the starting field for the main event was cut to 25 boats. Failing to finish high enough in the qualifying races were Buck Thornton of Atlanta who led the series coming into St. Louis, and perennial race favorite Le Sutter of Chicago.

Seebold's 21 year old son, Mike, was in running with the leaders until a brush with another boat forced him into the pits for extensive repairs. He managed to get back out on the course but was no longer a factor for the lead.

Kurt Todd drove conservatively for most of the race and his consistency paid off with a second place finish. Bob Larson of Stockton, Calif., finished third.

The Outboard World Series was the feature event of the St. Louis World Championship Grand Prix, a two-day festival of boat racing featuring Mod-V, Sport-J, Mod-50 class racing.

In addition to the 140 mile per hour champ boats. The program is presented annually by the Concord Village Lions Club. This year's program was sponsored by Busch-Grey Eagle distributors and Coca-Cola.

Racers injured

FENTON — Ken Hoffmann, Lacerescenta, Calif., and Travis Chapman, Williams Air Force Base, Ariz., were injured in a second lap flip during today's running of the St. Louis World Championship Grand Prix.

Competing in the first heat of the World Championship Sport-J class, the pair collided on the second lap along the main straightaway.

Hoffmann suffered minor contusions. Chapman was examined by paramedics at the race site and it was determined that he had broken both legs. The two drivers were taken to St. Anthony Medical Center in nearby Mehlville for treatment.

Grand Prix gets under way

FENTON, Mo. — The 1980 St. Louis World Championship Grand Prix got off to a spectacular start today with some of the most competitive racing ever held at George Winter Park.

"Jumpin'" Joe Burgess of Gallatin, Tenn., was a crowd favorite in the highly competitive Mod-V class. Taking an early lead in all three heats, Burgess toyed with the rest of the nine boat field, dodging in and out among the slower craft.

Second place for the three heat program went to John Bradshaw and Bobby Merritt (tie).

Other class racing included Sport-J and Mod-50 championship events.

Racing before an estimated crowd of 8,000, Albuquerque's Bob Barrett held off Earl Benz of Nashville in the first two heats of the Sport-J competition. Benz, however, was unable to get up to speed in the final heat and offered no challenge to Barrett. Barrett held on to win the third heat. Tom Drozd of Lake Dallas, Tex., finished second. Third place went to Kim Howard of Fullerton, Calif.

Being presented by the Concord Village Lions Club for the ninth consecutive year, the Grand Prix is a two-day festival of outboard racing attracting top drivers from through the United States. Sponsors of this year's racing included Busch-Grey Eagle distributors and Coca-Cola.

Racing action on tap tomorrow includes the final two heats of the Championship Mod-50 class and the weekend's premier event, the Outboard World Series. Featuring 140 mile per hour Tunnel Hull camp boats, competing for more than $16,000 in prize money, the series offers a radical departure from traditional motorboat racing with such innovations as simple class competition and mandatory pit stops for fuel during the 200 kilometer main event.

More than 30 champ boats are entered and with a maximum of 25 boat field permitted for the feature race, due to safety requirements, action promises to be fast and furious.

Results by Heat

Heat 1: Mod-V heat 1, Joe Burgess, Gallatin, Tenn., 1st place; Bobby Merritt, Wrightsville Beach, N.C., 2nd place; and John Bradshaw, Wilmington, N.C., 3rd place.

Heat 2: Joe Burgess, 1st place; Mike Merritt, Wrightsville Beach, N.C., 2nd place; and Bobby Merritt, 3rd place.

Heat 3: Joe Burgess, 1st place; John Bradshaw, 2nd place; and Mike Merritt, 3rd place.

Steamers add firepower with signing of two players

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Steamers increased their front line power today by signing two talented forwards to their 1980-81 roster. Tracey Leivewe, Steamers' general manager, announced today that Hugh Creaney and Emilio John will be returning to St. Louis for the team's second season. Both players signed one year contracts with option clauses.

Assessing the acquisitions, Pat McBride, Steamers' head coach said, "Emilio is possibly the most skilled player on the team in terms of overall individual technique. I predict that he'll be a big contributor in terms of goal production for the team."

"On the other hand, Hugh is a player with tremendous ball sense and control skills. He is more of a quarterback type of player who is a creator of opportunity and options but can also be a scoring threat."

John, a Quincy college graduate, sat out 15 games in the beginning of the Steamers' inaugural season when he pulled a thigh muscle. When the 6' 0", 170 pounder returned to the line up he notched nine goals and seven assists.

A native Nigerian, who now holds American citizenship status, John is looking forward to the season with anticipation. "I am very happy to be coming back to St. Louis to play and I am really looking forward to the season. I have great expectations for the team and myself."

"I have been working very hard on rehabilitating my leg over the summer. It was not at 100 percent even when I returned to the line up last season. I'm running 8 to 10 miles every other day and lifting weights daily. I know I can show the St. Louis fans a lot more than they saw from me last year."

McBride agrees with John's analysis. "It really set Emilio back when he missed those nine weeks at the beginning of the season. He had never played indoor soccer before last year and missing all that time made the transition a lot tougher."

"The amount of playing time he got towards the end of the season was very beneficial to him and he quickly picked up the differences in the two games. This year he'll know exactly what the indoor game requires and he'll really be able to produce."

The 29 year old John is known by team-mates as "Mr. Smooth" and was an All-American for Quincy.

Creaney brings two years of indoor soccer experience with him. He played for the 1978-79 New York Arrows in the MISL's first season and then became a member of the Steamers' squad halfway through the 1979-80 campaign.

McBride notes that Creaney is very good with the ball. "Hugh is an unselfish player. He knows when to pass and when to maintain position which are necessary ingredients in the indoor game. Even though he is slight in stature, Hugh is a very hard-nosed, aggressive player and will lend a tremendous amount to the team."

The 5' 11", 160 pound Canadian citizen tallied six goals and four assists in the 19 games he played for the Steamers. He started his pro-career at 16 when he won a starting position on the NASL's Montreal Olympics team. That same year he was a member of the Canadian Olympic squad. At 24, Creaney still feels he is young and that he can continue to improve his game. "I was as good a player, skill-wise, when I was 16 as I am now. The only differences are that physically and mentally I've gotten better. Now I'm physically stronger and have a better knowledge of the game."

Leivewe said that he is pleased with the additions to the team. "Emilio and Hugh both offer distinct dimensions to the game, dimensions that can only improve our offense. Emilio is highly skilled and feels that he can be our leading scorer. I certainly look forward to him being one of our top goal getters and an anticipating player. Hugh's patience and experience bring a great advantage on the field. He provides the steady influence during the game that all teams need if they want to be a contender. I, for one, predict the steamers will be very much in contention during the 1980-81 season."

A special surprise for the guests of honor was photographs taken of them and their children and each of the 11 grandchildren.

The grandchildren are Lisa, Kimberly, Bobby, Ann and Scott Schiavone, Jennifer and Becky Doyle, and Maureen, Patrick, Colleen and Kevin Doyle.

Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Tom Doyle and Brian from Rosewood, N.M., Mrs. Mary Chesney, Dee Run, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Dolan Holloway, Edwardsville, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Lanahan and George Schott of Granite City.

Following the dinner a party was continued at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Doyle.

Laura Edwards becomes Mrs. Bill Bronnauer

Miss Laura Edwards and Bill Bronnauer were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony performed at 7:30 p.m. at the Jewel Box in Forest Park, St. Louis, on June 7. The Rev. Eugene C. Seamen of the Nameoki United Methodist Church performed the ceremony.

A program of selected wedding music was provided by Glenn Freeburg on guitar. He also accompanied Mrs. Marilyn Benais as she sang, "The Wedding Song," "Longer," "Till There Was You," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride is the daughter of Lieutenant Colonel (Ret.) and Mrs. Charles H. Edwards. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. John A. Bronnauer, all of Granite City.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of ivory satin organza over taffeta, designed with a high neck, lavishly appliqued with pearl-flecked Venice lace on a Schiffler yoked bodice, with lace down the bishop sleeves and on the cuffs. The full skirt had applied lace filling the lower part and extending as trim around the edge of the cathedral train.

Her picture hat, which was covered with a double layer of matching organza was trimmed with lace and pearls, a bow and chapel train of bridal illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of ivory roses, stephanotis and gardenia in greenery.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Jill Jaffe, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Cindy Johnston, a sister of the bride, Mrs. Sue Moseley, and Miss Penny Cason.

They selected identical dusty rose tulle gowns, designed with a softly draped, sleeveless, waist-length jacket over a dress fashioned with a camioli bodice and slightly gathered skirt.

Each carried cascade bouquets of white fluff mums, pale pink rosebuds and greenery.

The groom chose Mike Willis as best man, Eric Cunningham, Brian Hoff, and Perry Hendrickson were groomsmen.

Mrs. Edwards, the mother of the bride, chose a pale blue floor length tulle gown with lace bodice and matching jacket. The groom's mother was attired in a formal length gown of pale tan chiffon, trimmed with brown ribbon and a chiffon capelet. Both mothers wore gardenia corsages.

A reception dinner was served at Schmiedhorst's Hofberg Inn in St. Louis following the ceremony.

A graduate of Granite City High School South, the bride graduated from Southern Illinois University in Edwardsville, where she received a B.S. degree with a major in recreation and a minor in psychology. She is employed as a Recreational Therapist at the Ketter Center at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. She is a member of the National Assn.

The groom, also a graduate of Granite City High School South, is employed by Illinois Power Company as an Energy Use Advisor. He attends classes at Southern Illinois University and he is a member of the Knights of Columbus.

After a wedding trip to the island of Maui in Hawaii, the newlyweds are now residing in Granite City.

Did the record heat this summer set a record for your electric bill?

We want to help.

In July, the heat in Illinois set records. No wonder that the demand for air conditioning also reached a peak. If you find that this month's electric bill—which covers the period of the July heat wave—is more than you can conveniently handle, here's a suggestion:

Switch now to Budget Billing.

Budget Billing can level out your monthly utility payments. It is the way thousands of Illinois Power customers now pay their electricity and natural gas bills.

All Budget Billing accounts are reviewed twice a year and adjusted to reflect your actual use of energy plus fuel cost adjustments. You can discontinue Budget Billing at any time.

We can't control the weather but we can help our customers budget the cost of coping with it. And while we know that no one likes rising costs, we're glad we're able to provide your electric service at rates that are still among the lowest of any electric utility in Illinois.

You can convert to Budget Billing now and take the sting out of your August electric bill. The amount of your payment under Budget Billing is shown on the upper part of your bill.

To begin Budget Billing, simply pay the Budget amount as shown in the message that will appear on your bill.

Much election oratory at convention, fair last week; will Illinois be nation's vote barometer once again?

How accurate a barometer will Illinois be regarding the outcome of the 1980 presidential election? Records show Illinoisans cast majority votes for the winning White House candidate each four years during a span of 60 years—until 1976. If you believe Governor James Thompson, "We were right (in Illinois) and they were wrong (nationally)." He referred to Pres. Gerald Ford carrying this state four years ago at the same time that Pres. Jimmy Carter was defeating Mr. Ford nationwide.

As the governor expressed it during Republican Day (called Governor's Day this year) at the State Fair, Aug. 12, if America had listened to Illinois voters' sentiments, they would have avoided a situation in which "the economy has been ripped apart, our national defense has crumbled, and energy policies have brought chaos."

On the same day he was speaking, Democrats were protesting the nomination of renominating Mr. Carter for four more years.

The previous day at the convention in New York City, names of Sen. Edward Kennedy predicted that "we will reunite on the basis of Democratic principles and together we will march toward a Democratic victory in 1980."

The day after he was renominated, Pres. Carter asked that voters re-elect him, and told his party's delegates that "if we fight to make our dreams a reality, all Americans will have a good life—a life of meaning and purpose—in a nation strong and secure."

Who is right—Pres. Carter or Republican Ronald Reagan, each the principal target at the competing parties' quadrennial conventions? Vice President Walter Mondale, a vice-presidential hopeful, George Bush?

It will be up to each voter to sift through the rhetoric and compare the records and qualifications of the political standard-bearers.

If Illinois voters thought their governor was being a bit partisan in his remarks at the fair, they would have hardly doubted at all about the partisanship of Mr. Bush, who joined Mr. Thompson at the well-attended rally on the fairgrounds. (Democrats drew an insufficient turnout and canceled the rally they had planned on their day at the fair Aug. 8.)

The GOP nominee for the No. 2 office said at Springfield that he would avoid making a campaign appeal, but then asserted that farm income had dropped 40 percent in the last year under Carter "leadership." He added that he and Mr. Reagan oppose the grain embargo that the federal administration has imposed; they contend it has unfairly harmed agriculture in this state and the nation.

What the Bush and Mondale audiences hear and remember will not be as significant as the Carter-Reagan campaigning, but there is added interest in the Reagan-oppose the grain embargo due to the Reagan factor and due to the fact that, if Mr. Carter is victorious, he could not seek a third term. Bush, Kennedy and Mondale are likely to try for the presidency in 1984.

All the office-seekers say the 1980 oratory won't get under way in earnest until the presidential election day, but attending the fair last week could not help but realize that the campaign is at least on the verge of beginning.

What they noticed was the cowboy hat that the usually dignified George Bush bought and wore during his walk through the fairgrounds—reminiscent of numerous earlier candidates' willingness to don Indian feathers, derbies or any other kind of head adornment to please this or that ethnic group.

The candidates' willingness to seem vigorous enough to survive the campaign from now until it comes to a merciful end Nov. 4. We hope the same can be said for the voters who must view their antics and hear their speeches.

Bus riders entitled to expect good conduct by others

Because all bus riders have a right to be left alone and not bothered by other passengers, both St. Louis and St. Louis County deserve praise for adopting new ordinances governing passenger conduct.

It is now illegal to "play any radio, cassette recorder or other such instrument except when it is connected to an earphone that limits the sound to the individual user."

Also banned are refusal or failure to pay the established fare, consumption of liquor or beer, spitting, discarding litter, carrying or possessing any flammable liquid, explosives, acids or other dangerous articles or materials, and bringing aboard a bus any live birds, reptiles or animals (except for "seeing eye" dogs).

The St. Louis city ordinance also names consumption of food or liquid of any kind as an offense. Smoking on buses has been illegal for several years.

Starting Sept. 5, enforcement of the ordinances will be the function of the Bi-State Transit System's undercover police surveillance teams in addition to regular police force actions.

Initially, warnings will be given until the public has become more aware of the new regulations, and then summonses will be issued. So far this year, the surveillance program has resulted in over 1,900 arrests, the leading offense is littering.

Bi-State officials have applauded adoption of the new laws as helping to make passengers' rides safer and more pleasant.

We agree. Now, if they could just make a few more of the buses cool enough in the summertime, there would be even more pleasant, safe commutes for all the reasons for patronizing the transit system.

Girl reports abduction

Granite City police are investigating a report from a 15-year-old Lee Avenue girl who says she was abducted from near her home about 11:45 p.m. Saturday and was held hostage until about 12:30 a.m. Sunday by a man who attempted to molest her.

The girl said she was in the 2100 block of Lee Avenue, walking toward her home, when a compact green Ford auto stopped and the driver offered her a ride.

When she declined, she said, the driver got out, ran at her, grabbed her and stated, "Get in this car right now or I'll kill you." She said she got in the car and was driven through Granite City and Pontoon Beach for about one half hour, refusing to take her home.

She said he kept attempting to pull her clothing off, but she resisted and, she struck him in the face. On East 24th Street, while the man was attempting to molest her, she jumped out of the car and ran to a boyfriend's home, she reported.

The green auto followed her and she reported that he saw her several times as she came back, she related.

The driver was described as having curly brown hair, blue eyes and a mustache.

Man contests fight report

Julian D. King, 43, of 2529 Northridge, who was one of two men charged with battery following an alleged fight near his home one week ago, is disagreeing with published reports about the incident.

King said another man was beating a 15-year-old boy in front of King's home when King intervened in the scuffle to help the boy. The fight had halted before police arrived, he said.

Several witnesses have told the Press-Record that they agree with King's account of the incident.

Police allowed both men to sign complaints against each other and both have been released on bond.

Sometime after 10:30 p.m. Friday a Clarion power booster for stereo costing $140, a police scanner valued at $159 and night stalker radio were stolen from a 1974 Plymouth Duster he was taken from a Pontiac Trans AM car parked in the rear lot of 3145 Maryville Road, it was reported by Chuck Hazelwood, at 11 a.m. Saturday.

Whites trying to rebuild lives after tragic crash

The body of Lisa White, 16, of 1362 Norwood, was to be returned to Granite City this week for burial as two of her sisters and her father remain in Salt Lake City, Utah, with injuries suffered in an accident one week ago in Wyoming.

Grady White, 51, remains in a coma and in extremely critical condition at the Utah Medical Center in Salt Lake City with a skull fracture and concussion, according to family members, who said he has shown no signs of improvement since the Aug. 11 accident.

Lori White, 16, who had been in a coma, awoke Thursday and was reported talking and doing well at the same hospital during the weekend. It is possible she could return to Granite City in about two weeks, family members were told. Leslie White, 12, is to be flown to St. Louis Wednesday, courtesy of Granite City Firefighters Local 253, who donated $1,200 for her plane fare and $300 to help defray expenses of moving her.

She is in a full body cast as the result of fractures suffered in the accident, firemen said. She will be transported by a Mercer ambulance from Lambert-St. Louis International Airport to Granite City, so she can be among her friends, firemen were told.

Funeral arrangements for Lisa White are uncertain, at this time, at Mercer Mortuary of Granite City.

The Whites were in a van driving north from Rock

Springs, Wyo., toward Yellowstone National Park, when a southbound pickup truck, followed by an auto, approached the van. For some reason, the car struck the rear of the pickup truck and the auto then crossed the center line and collided head-on with the White's van.

A friend of the Whites, Donna Peterson of Granite City, is asking for donations to help the family meet its medical bills and transportation costs. A fund has been established at American Heritage Bank for the family.

Checks may be donated to "the Grady White Family Fund" at American Heritage Bank.

State to clarify regulations that affect business

DCCA Reg-Alert, a new service to Illinois businesses was launched last week by the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA).

The alerts will summarize proposed new or revised government regulations of interest to Illinois business and industry. The information service will also provide information on opportunities for public comment.

The first DCCA Reg-Alert addresses changes in "accessibility standards illustrated" of the Illinois Capital Development Board.

The changes, of interest primarily to the construction industry, are planned because of the provisions of the standards are confusing and have resulted in the withholding of construction permits.

"We hope this new service will keep the business community better informed," DCCA Director John W. Castle said, "and will make the task of keeping up with government regulations easier."

This service, combined with the department's toll-free business "hotline," on-going series of statewide small business hearings, and other regular services will put us in closer touch with Illinois businesses.

"We hope to help provide more jobs by better serving business and industry in the state."

Suspect arson

Arson is suspected as the cause of a fire which caused about $12,000 damage to the home of Norma Breeze, 2154 Edison Ave., at 2:05 a.m. Monday.

The family was in the process of moving from the house and there was no one inside when fire broke out, apparently on a small utility table near the kitchen sink, firemen said.

Lack of a logical source for the fire to start was cited by firemen as one reason arson is suspected. Firemen fought the blaze for two hours.

Damage was confined to the kitchen wall and ceiling and the upstairs bathroom floor and wall. Losses are estimated at $8,000 to the building and $4,000 to its contents.

New rescue truck first used Sunday

Leonard Butler, 20, of 4912 Mueller Ave., had the dubious honor Sunday of having been the first person rescued by the city fire department's new rescue truck.

Butler suffered cuts to his head and arm when his pickup truck rounded the curve on Pehling Road west of Yale Avenue, allegedly at a high rate of speed, skidded out of control on the wet pavement, went into Wilson Park and struck a tree, police said.

The new rescue vehicle was required to remove Butler from the truck. He was bandaged, administered oxygen and was taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where he was admitted.

Butler was issued a ticket alleging that he was driving too fast for conditions. The rescue truck passed state inspection in Springfield Thursday afternoon and was returned to Granite City Friday, where it was immediately put into service. The $41,826 lime green rescue truck was purchased with a 75 percent grant from the Illinois Department of Transportation.

Three hurt in tavern fight

Three men were injured during a fight which began in Eddie's Lounge, 2900 Nameoki Road, at 8:15 p.m. Sunday.

A patron, Carl Cline, 2811 Marshall Ave., alleged that another patron, Dennis DeMontmolin, 32, Florissant, Mo., refused to return Cline's hat, which DeMontmolin had borrowed earlier in the evening.

When Cline demanded his hat be returned, DeMontmolin allegedly struck Cline's face with a fist. The men fought outside and bartender Richard Coy went outside to try and halt the fight, police were told.

Coy alleged DeMontmolin knocked him down and kicked him in the back. Coy was unable to move and was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center by a Granite City ambulance.

Coy had been to his face and DeMontmolin had several facial lacerations, police said.

After talking to witnesses, DeMontmolin was arrested and was charged with disorderly conduct and battery. He declined medical treatment, police said.

Van stalls and contents stolen

Mike Newcomb, of Winchester, Mo., reported his van stalled at 801 Jackson St., at 2:30 p.m. Saturday and while he left the vehicle unattended $978 worth of household and other items were stolen.

A salesman for the W&E Industries in Westport, Mo. Newcomb said when the van could not be moved he and three associates left on foot to sell their wares along Weaver St.

Among the articles taken were several sets of dishes, flatware, games, watches, speakers, socket sets, tote bags and cutlery sets.

"We hope to help provide more jobs by better serving business and industry in the state."

Arrest man for Wood River PD

Larry Joseph Maykoy, 20, of 1014 West Pontoon Road, was arrested by Madison police at 2:20 a.m. today at Fifth and State streets in Madison on a felony warrant issued by the Wood River Police Department.

Maykoy was being sought on a charge of aggravated battery, resulting from an incident occurring in Wood River on Thursday, Aug. 14.

A spokesman for that police department said this morning that bond has been set at $50,000 for the Granite City man, who will be transferred to their headquarters today.

Maykoy also was charged by Madison police with having no driver's license.

4 vehicle mishap on Route 162

A Granite City man faces three charges resulting from a four-vehicle chain reaction collision on Route 162 at the railroad crossing, near Maryville Road at 2:30 a.m. Sunday.

Illinois State Police said three westbound vehicles were stopped, waiting for a train to clear the railroad crossing, when a 1972 Dodge van, operated by Arthur J. Riest, 57, of Rural Route One, Granite City, collided with the halted van of David R. Sheppard, 29, of Granite City, knocking the van into another vehicle, which in turn struck a fourth auto.

Riest was charged with driving too fast for conditions, illegal transportation or possession of liquor and driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Sheppard was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center for abrasions to the legs and released.

Fire department pumps were at the scene to wash Granite City, knocking the van from the pavement.

Rotary clubs hear talks by district leader

The Granite City and Madison-Venice Rotary clubs heard talks last week by the governor of District 646, Nye F. Bouslog of Macomb, an active Rotarian for 33 years.

Gov. Bouslog emphasized the 1980-81 theme of "take time to serve" announced by Rotary International President Rolf J. Klarich of Helsinki, Finland.

Committee reports were presented to the governor, who praised the community, vocational and international service of local clubs and cited the efforts of Donald Shaffer of Granite City as district chairman of the Rotary youth exchange program.

A guest at the Granite City luncheon meeting was Mike McLean, a Granite Cityan who was in "exchange" student in Australia for a year. A certificate was presented to McLean by the district governor.

While endorsing innovative activities by Rotary clubs, Bouslog said it is also invaluable to "get back to the basics" of Rotary and its "service above self" concept.

It was noted that clubs throughout the district will attend a Cardinal baseball game in St. Louis Aug. 29.

County says its population rising

Madison County has at least 9,300 more residents than the 242,526 shown in the preliminary 1980 census tally. The County Board Administrator Mary Kane said last week.

The 242,526 figure represents a 3.3 percent decrease from the 250,911 counted in 1970. If 9,300 can be added, the new total would top 251,000 and approach 252,000.

A private census made at the request of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Chicago in March and April indicates that the Census Bureau may have missed nearly 3,400 housing units in this county.

Census takers reported a six percent vacancy rate but the private estimate, utilizing Postal Service figures, shows only 2.3 percent of housing units unoccupied.

Mrs. Kane noted that counties and municipalities expect to lose an average of 300 in federal funding over the next decade for each individual not counted in the census. For 9,300 persons, the total loss would be $1,900,000. She said the Census Bureau apparently has listed as vacant some houses and apartments actually occupied but not responding to mail contacts or home visits.

In a letter to the census district "manager" at Belleville, Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer cites "significant problems" with the information as reported by the Census Bureau.

"We are particularly concerned with what appears to be large errors of omission in tabulating the correct number of housing units and their population, and also the inordinately high vacancy rates identified throughout the county."

While the letter includes the postal survey and pinpoints locations where the county feels census errors were made, the county is carrying on cities, villages and townships to make formal challenges to the census.

Each student will have to provide their own transportation as the regular school bus will not be running on that day, the school principal announces.

The "KEY" unlocks the door to a world of bargains!

The six important questions to ask before listing your house.

When you're ready to sell, you want to make sure you list with someone who has all the tools to help you best sell your house. The most important thing is this: Don't just list with anybody.

To compare, ask these six questions:

1. Do you have a referral network so you can send me potential buyers from all across the country?
2. Do you have a display of photos in your office so people can preview my house?
3. Are all your salespeople professionally trained?
4. Do you advertise extensively in newspapers and on the radio?
5. Will you put into writing exactly what you will do for me or else I can cancel the listing?
6. Do you spend over $20,000.00 to advertise on television so effectively that more than 9 out of 10 potential buyers recognize your sign in front of my house?

There is only one real estate sales organization that can answer yes to all these questions.
